Fund Quarterly Commentary

1st Quarter 2012

Positive Market Momentum

Positive momentum from the fourth quarter of 2011 carried over into the first quarter of 2012 as U.S. equity prices surged higher. Sustained central bank liquidity in Europe and the U.S. appeared to have rekindled investor animal spirits and tolerance for more risky assets. Moreover, a rebirth of U.S. job growth, acceptable Gross Domestic Product (GDP) figures, contained inflation reports, and a decent corporate earnings season further helped to propel equity prices higher. Financial stocks captured center stage during the quarter in delivering an impressive 22% total return as financial companies were the prime beneficiaries of the economic and monetary trends.

REITS, as represented by the Fund's FTSE/NAREIT All Equity REIT Index benchmark, only gained 10.5%, after surging more than 15% during the fourth quarter 2011. Thus, while REITs did well in an absolute sense, they lagged the Financials sector overall by a wide margin. As noted in last quarter's commentary, REITs represent important proportions of the Russell 2000 and S&P 500 Financials Indices and generalist investors, not to mention the financial media, often conflate REITs with small-cap stocks and/or financial stocks. Although REITs moved in tandem with the smaller companies and Financials during the late 2008/early 2009 financial meltdown, REITs outdistanced both in the latter half of 2009 and all of 2010 and 2011. Given their simple, transparent, real estate ownership intensive business model, we think that over longer time spans (i.e. the multiple years in a typical real estate cycle) REITs have delivered performance akin to commercial real estate returns. During the past 10 years, the Fund's benchmark handily bested both the Russell 2000 Index and S&P 500 Financials sector.

The Fund moderately outpaced its benchmark during the period as it outperformed in each month of the quarter to get off to a solid start in 2012. Security selection within the Lodging, Healthcare, and Industrials sectors aided that outperformance the most. Strategic Hotels & Resorts was one of a handful of Lodging REITs that contributed to returns, with Strategic surging more than 15% in January alone. The avoidance of two large-cap Healthcare names that underperformed their peers as well as the benchmark also benefited relative performance. Meanwhile, a sizeable position in small-cap Sabra Health Care REIT delivered outsized returns. A similar parallel unfolded within Industrials as large-cap Prologis began faltering in March. The Fund benefited as we reduced the portfolio's position to zero while a growing position in small-cap STAG Industrial boosted performance.

Elsewhere, NYC office landlord SL Green Corp. advanced double-digits, while the exclusion of lagging self-storage property landlord Public Storage enhanced returns. Holdings in the Mall sector constituted the one notable lagging area for the portfolio.

Outlook

Given REITs' current and probable access to attractively priced debt and equity capital, we think the industry is poised for appealing growth and total returns. The access to capital allows for accretive investment in acquisitions and highly pre-leased development, while firming rental rates and rising occupancy levels bolster per share cash flow growth. The visibility and trajectory of REIT cash flows generated by their professionally managed portfolios of high-quality commercial real estate have been enhanced over the past three years as the industry reduced debt levels and bolstered the sector's financial strength. Once again, the publicly traded REIT model is attracting investor attention, aiding the Fund's benchmark in reaching a new all-time high in market capitalization, eclipsing the prior peak in 2007.

REITs shot ahead during the first quarter and investors should not expect nearly 10% quarterly returns from this asset type. However, considering the REIT industry's balance sheet health, access to capital, lack of new competing supply, dividend growth potential, improving portfolio occupancy levels, modest discount to NAV, and fair Cash Available for Distribution (CAD)/Funds from Operations (FFO) multiples, we think REITs remain well positioned to potentially deliver positive total returns in 2012 and beyond.

Harrison Street Securities
Chicago, IL

As of March 31, 2012, Strategic Hotels & Resorts comprised 2.36% of the portfolio's assets, Sabra Healthcare – 2.18%, ProLogis – 0.00%, STAG Industrials – 2.54%, SL Green – 5.29%, and Public Storage – 0.00%.

Note: Small- and mid-cap stocks are considered riskier than large-cap stocks due to greater potential volatility and less liquidity.

For each fund with at least a three-year history, Morningstar calculates a Morningstar Rating™ based on a Morningstar Risk-Adjusted Return measure that accounts for variation in a fund's monthly performance (including the effects of sales charges, loads, and redemption fees), placing more emphasis on downward variations and rewarding consistent performance. The top 10% of funds in each category receive 5 stars, the next 22.5% receive 4 stars, the next 35% receive 3 stars,the next 22.5% receive 2 stars, and the bottom 10% receive 1 star. The Overall Morningstar Rating is derived from a weighted-average of the performance figures associated with its three-, five-, and 10-year (if applicable) Morningstar Rating metrics.© Morningstar, Inc.

The highest or most favorable Morningstar percentile rank is 1 and the lowest percentile rank is 100. The top-performing fund in a category will always receive a rank of 1. Various rating agencies categorize funds differently. Past performance is no guarantee of future results.

Fund Overview

Investment Strategy

The ASTON/Harrison Street Real Estate Fund combines both top-down and bottom-up research with a long-term investment horizon to construct a portfolio that maintains the characteristics of direct real estate ownership.

Objective

The Fund seeks total return through a combination of growth and income.

Risk Considerations

All investments are subject to risks and investing in sector-specific mutual funds may entail greater risks than investments in funds diversified across sectors. Because such a fund may invest in a limited number of industries within a sector such as real estate, the fund may be subject to a greater level of market risk and may be more volatile. Risks also include declines in the value of real estate, general and economic conditions, changes in the value of the underlying property and defaults by borrowers.

Real estate funds are non-diversified and may be more susceptible to risk than funds that invest more broadly. Risks include declines from deteriorating economic conditions, changes in the value of the underlying property, and defaults by borrowers.

Highlights

- Dedicated REIT securities investment management firm
- High-conviction, sector neutral portfolio construction
- Emphasis on small- and mid-sized REITs

Subadviser

Harrison Street Securities,LLC (Chicago, IL)

Blends cash available for distribution evaluations with net asset value analysis to determine the warranted value of real estate securities.

Mr. Kammert has 17 years of investment experience. He holds a BA in Economics and Business from Lafayette College and earned an MBA from the University of Chicago.

Investment Strategy & Process

Management focuses on finding attractive investment opportunities in public real estate securities using proprietary bottom-up research and a blend of two valuation techniques.

Investment Universe

- Any listed North American security that derives a significant portion of its earnings from real estate
- Roughly 155 REITs—132 US-based, 23 Canadian-listed—and more than 20 real estate operating companies

Security Selection

- Employ a proprietary cross-sectional relative cash-flow multiple regression analysis to calculate expected 12-month total return
- Compare current stock price with estimated net asset value (NAV) using proprietary capitalization rate information
- Rank firms on management ability matrix to calculate min and max expected premium or discount to NAV
- Calculate estimated warranted share price based on results of management-adjusted NAV and the regression model

Portfolio Construction

- Understand that disciplined portfolio construction based on valuation aids in managing risk
- Believe small- and mid-cap REITs are less efficiently priced than large-caps and provide greater opportunities to add value
- Sector neutral for the six major property types in the benchmark (roughly 83% of index)
- Individual position size: max equals 500 basis points above benchmark weight; min is 150 basis points above index for non-large caps
